These clay toys are over 4000 years old. Have you ever played with toys like these? Tell your class. If you have any such toys at home, bring them to class and show.

Isn't it interesting that even 4000 years back children played with toys similar to what children play with today? Whenever we talk about things from a long time ago, we are entering the fascinating world of history.

Learning outcomes

By the end of this lesson, you will be able to:

- Explain what history is and evaluate the need to study it
- Distinguish between history and prehistory

WHAT IS HISTORY?

So then, what is history? History is the study of our past. History tells us what people did and how they lived in the past; about their economy, occupations and their eating habits; about their rulers and the battles they fought.

History tries to understand and explain events of the
